At present, she lectures in American Literature at Universidad de Buenos Aires -UBA. In her spare time, Griselda loves dancing, getting lost in bookstores and taking drama classes.

Objectives: In this online reading breakfast session, we intend:

- To continue creating a reading community of lovers of literature.
- To continue developing reading strategies to tackle the ambiguous nature of literary texts.
- To learn about and explore the literary work of Virginia Woolf; in particular, her essay A Room of One's Own.

Contents: In this session, we will introduce Virginia Woolf, her literary production and the ground-breaking views on women and fiction she put together in her essay A Room of One's Own. We will discuss her proto-feminism and the struggles women writers underwent at the beginning of the XXth century in Europe so as to have equal access to universities and have a voice in academia. Her work paved the way for the construction of Gender Studies Departments at universities, exposed the struggles women faced when writing fiction and brought to light the hypocrisy of the patriarchal and classist society of her times.
